Structural Fire Protection

We understand the importance of protecting your personnel and structure. Insulation for equipment, sensor protection, ambient heat load reduction, and fire prevention are critical for effective safeguarding. DI provides mineral wool, high temperature blanket, and microporous technology products for various application requirements. In addition to insulation, we can fulfill your accessory needs for marine firestopping applications.

Installation Accessories

Our stock of marine insulation accessory products include adhesives, caulks, foam sealants, hand tools, fasteners, pins, and other related materials to streamline your project. DI’s ability to combine delivery of accessory items along with a complete line of insulation products provides a constant, value-added service to our customers.
